OVERVIEW

The year 2022-2023 has been a testament to the resilience and innovation for Impulse NGO Network (INGON). Operating in one of the most challenging periods in recent history, INGON has steadfastly continued its mission to combat human trafficking and exploitation. Guided by the globally recognized Impulse Model, our efforts focus on addressing vulnerabilities at the root through the 6Ps (Partnership, Prevention, Protection, Policing, Press, Prosecution) and 6Rs (Reporting, Rescue, Rehabilitation, Repatriation, Reintegration, Restitution).

Over the past year, INGON has navigated a dynamic landscape of social, economic, and political challenges, expanding its reach and deepening its impact:

Lifesaving Assistance: Expanded the Impulse Model Prevention Lab, reaching 1,500 families in Mizoram, Manipur, and Nagaland.

Global Collaboration: Strengthened partnership support with organizations such as Chevron USA INC. and Azim Premji Foundation to scale innovative projects and amplify results.

Sustainable Livelihoods: Advanced agroforestry initiatives, enabling displaced families to cultivate crops on 300 acres of rehabilitated land, merging environmental conservation with food security in Manipur, Mizoram, and Nagaland.

Crisis Response in Myanmar: Delivered emergency relief, including dry rations, to 1080 families in conflict-ridden regions such as Taungoo, Mandalay, Pyin Oo Lwin, Yangon, Nyaung Lay Pin, Bago, Monywa and Tamu.

Community Empowerment: Mobilized youth and women in Meghalaya, forming nine Community-Based Organizations and addressing systemic issues such as unemployment, early child marriage, and education gaps.

With 74,000 cases of human trafficking and exploitation intervened in to date, INGON remains steadfast in its commitment to creating "A World Without Human Trafficking and Exploitation".

MESSAGE FROM THE FOUNDER

Dear Friends and Supporters,

Reflecting on the year 2022-2023, I am inspired by the resilience and determination of the communities we serve, as well as the strength of the collective resolve of INGON members and our local and global partners to combat human trafficking and exploitation. Building on the foundation of previous years, including our transformative work in 2021-2022, we have scaled deep into our mission, deep-diving into systemic solutions that tackle the root causes of exploitation.

This year, we faced the aftermath of the COVID-19 pandemic and the ongoing displacement crisis in Myanmar, which tested our ability to adapt and innovate. Through the Impulse Model Protection and Prevention Pillar, we delivered emergency aid to displaced families while implementing sustainable agroforestry programs across 300 acres in Mizoram and Manipur. These initiatives have not only addressed immediate needs but also empowered families to rebuild through sustainable livelihoods, reflecting our commitment to scaled-deep impact.

The expansion of the Impulse Case Management Centre (ICMC) across three new states has been a significant milestone. By leveraging cross-border collaborations, we accelerated justice for human trafficking survivors, resolved 30 cases, and reinforced our commitment to providing comprehensive care through legal, psychological, and social reintegration services.

Our partnerships continued to be a cornerstone of our success. Collaborating with organizations through state partnerships and financial partnerships like Chevron, the Azim Premji Foundation, META, Bread for the World, and state partners such as New Life Foundation, Hope, Bethesda Youth Welfare Centre, Cord Nerc, UTSAH, and country partner YMCA Myanmar, we have directly impacted over 4,000 lives. These efforts align with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), contributing to No Poverty (SDG 1), Gender Equality (SDG 5), Decent Work and Economic Growth (SDG 8), and Peace, Justice, and Strong Institutions (SDG 16).

By leveraging cross-border collaborations, we accelerated justice for trafficking survivors, resolved 30 cases, and reinforced our commitment to social reintegration services.

Hasina Kharbhih, Founder Impulse NGO Network

Stories of transformation, such as those of Haothangjing and families who found solace in emergency rations, fuel our mission. Their resilience underscores the importance of our deep-dive approach and inspires us to forge ahead with renewed purpose.

As we look toward 2023-2024, our focus is on scaling our solutions across borders. The opening of a new regional office in Thailand represents a pivotal step in scaling out and scaling deep of the Impulse Model Southeast Asia. Together, we will continue to build systems that empower communities, foster resilience, and dismantle the structures that enable human trafficking.

As an Aspen AGLN Fellow, I am one of the recipients of the 2022 Global Inclusive Growth Spark Grants from the Aspen Institute and the Mastercard Centre for Inclusive Growth. The grant award of $20,000 will be employed for strengthening the Impulse Model Prevention. Looking forward to officially receiving the Award on 13 April 2023 at the Global Inclusive Growth Summit in Washington, DC.

Your unwavering support makes all of this possible. Thank you for standing with us on this vital mission.

In solidarity and hope,

Hasina Kharbhih
Founder, Impulse NGO Network

ABOUT IMPULSE NGO NETWORK

Impulse NGO Network (INGON) is a pioneering organization that has led the fight against human trafficking and exploitation since its inception in 1987. Our work is rooted in the Impulse Model, a globally acclaimed strategy that combines prevention, protection, and partnerships to drive systemic change.

KEY ACHIEVEMENTS

Over 74,000 cases intervened: Over 35 years, INGON has made significant strides in addressing trafficking across South and Southeast Asia.

GDN World Bank Recognition: The Impulse Model was awarded the Japanese Most Innovative Development Project Award in 2012, enabling its scale-out in countries such as Myanmar, Nepal, and Thailand. Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with INGON and State partners and Traditional Institutions for the Agroforestry Initiative, which involves a collaborative effort between 50% host community and 50% displaced people implementing the agroforestry initiative covering about 1,200 acres of land - 300 acres each in Mizoram, Manipur, Nagaland, and Myanmar.

We believe in empowering communities by addressing vulnerabilities at their root and creating sustainable solutions. Our vision, "A World Without Human Trafficking and Exploitation," continues to guide every aspect of our work.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

In 2022-2023, our programs emphasized three core areas: Immediate Relief, Sustainable Livelihoods, and Community Resilience.

Impulse Model Protection

A total of 23 programmes were organised

Immediate Relief in Myanmar

Amidst the ongoing political crisis in Myanmar, INGON provided dry rations to over 1080 families across Taungoo, Mandalay, Nyaunglaypin, and Tamu. Facilitating with the local YMCA, these efforts ensured that displaced families had access to essential supplies, including rice, lentils, cooking oil, and baby products.

Impact: Stabilized food security for over 2,700 individuals, allowing families to focus on rebuilding their lives.

Community Resilience through Medical Aid in Manipur (Project CURE) Medical supplies, including beds, wheelchairs, syringes, and surgical masks, were distributed to 4 Government hospitals and 2 Homes across Manipur.

Impulse Model Prevention

A total of 67 programmes were organised

Sustainable Livelihoods through Multi-crop Farming and Long-term Agroforestry Interventions

In Mizoram, Manipur, and Nagaland, INGON empowered displaced families to cultivate crops on 300 acres of land (in each State), improving food security and boosting income.

Environmental Impact: Rehabilitated degraded land, reduced soil erosion, and promoted biodiversity.

Economic Impact: Farmers like Haothangjing earned approximately $2176 per season, transforming their lives and securing their families' futures.

KEY ACHIEVEMENTS

MAJOR HIGHLIGHTS

Community Mobilization and Empowerment

- The formation of nine Community-Based Organizations (CBOs) in Meghalaya enabled grassroots problem-solving and advocacy for systemic issues like unemployment. The Impulse Model Prevention introduced weaving through Impulse Empower, along with farming and agroforestry.
- Youth-specific engagement sessions allowed for tailored interventions, amplifying the voices of the next generation in decision-making economic upliftment processes.

Livelihood and Food Security Interventions

- Multi-crop farming and long-term Agroforestry initiatives provided sustainable livelihood options for displaced families from Myanmar into Mizoram, Manipur, and Nagaland. By utilizing 300 acres of rehabilitated land, these projects enhanced food security while promoting environmental conservation.
- Success stories like that of Haothangjing, who earned approximately $2176 through diversified crop cultivation, illustrate the economic empowerment achieved through these initiatives.

Rapid Response to Crises

- Emergency relief through dry ration distribution in Myanmar supported over 1080 families, benefitting approximately 2,700 individuals. Collaborations with country Partner YMCA Myanmar and the YMCA network ensured timely and equitable resource delivery to displaced populations in regions like Taungoo and Mandalay.

Digital Innovation for Human Trafficking Case Resolutions

- The Impulse Case Management Centre (ICMC) expanded to three new states- Assam, Manipur, and Sikkim, strengthening cross-border collaborations and expediting human trafficking case resolutions.

Healthcare Support

- Project CURE delivered vital medical supplies to 4 hospitals and 2 Homes across Manipur, strengthening healthcare access for vulnerable communities.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

Impulse NGO Network's initiatives in 2022-2023 directly contribute to the following SDGs:

Through these targeted interventions, INGON under Impulse Model Innovation aligns its efforts with global development priorities, contributing to a sustainable and equitable future.

IMPULSE CASE MANAGEMENT CENTRE

The Impulse Case Management Centre (ICMC) has become a cornerstone of INGON’s anti- trafficking initiatives. With operations scaled deep into Manipur, Assam, and Sikkim, ICMC continues to strengthen case interventions, enhance cross-border collaborations, and build state partners as institutions through targeted campaigns.

The Impulse Case Management Centre (ICMC) exemplifies how technology and collaboration can combat human trafficking effectively. Launched in 2013, this digital platform has transformed the way human trafficking cases are managed, resolved, and tracked.

Key Features of ICMC

Streamlined Communication

The platform facilitates real-time information sharing between anti-trafficking units, law enforcement agencies, and civil society organizations.

Cross-Border Collaboration

ICMC’s international integration allows for seamless cooperation between countries, expediting the rescue, repatriation, and rehabilitation of survivors.

Data-Driven Decision Making

With its robust database, ICMC provides insights into human trafficking patterns, enabling targeted interventions and policy development.

Achievements in 2022-2023

Strengthened operations in three states: Manipur, Assam, and Sikkim, reaching thousands of stakeholders, including law enforcement officers, social workers, and community leaders. Conducted workshops and training sessions to familiarize users with the platform, enhancing the efficiency of anti-trafficking units.

Facilitated the resolution of cross-border human trafficking cases, improving response times and outcomes for survivors.

Impact on Survivors

ICMC Legal Empowerment Fund Lawyers follow up on pending cases, and survivors gain access to legal aid and rehabilitation services, helping them rebuild their lives with dignity.

Faster Resolutions: The platform significantly reduced delays in case management, ensuring timely rescue and reintegration.

IMPULSE MODEL ENTREPRENEURS SERIES

The Impulse Model Entrepreneur Stories series, developed under the Impulse Social Enterprises and Impulse NGO Network presents a powerful narrative of entrepreneurial transformation in the 8 Northeastern states and North Bengal, India. Anchored by Hasina Kharbhih, the initiative highlights how young people are moving beyond conventional aspirations of government jobs to forge new paths as entrepreneurs, despite immense societal and financial pressures. Partnering with support from Meta, the Entrepreneur in Residence, Lewis Özcan (GezStudio) from the Impulse Empower Incubation Hub travelled across all eight northeastern states and North Bengal to document the journeys of 17 entrepreneurs. Through a storytelling-driven narrative, these stories highlight the Prevention pillar of the Impulse Model, showing how economic upliftment can reduce unsafe migration. This series spotlights 15 ethical and resilient small and medium enterprises across the eight Northeastern states and North Bengal. These enterprises were carefully selected to reflect the region's diversity, cultural depth, and economic potential. The businesses span traditional sectors such as bamboo crafts and local food products, leveraging indigenous knowledge and regional identity to thrive in competitive markets. The initiative focuses on:

- Preventing unsafe migration through local job creation
- Encouraging mentorship and peer learning among grassroots entrepreneurs
- Strengthening the local economy with a focus on ethical, community-anchored business practices
- Amplifying regional voices through digital storytelling, supported by Meta

In Hasina's words, this journey is about “creating economic upliftment and resilient markets” at the grassroots – not through top-down development, but by supporting those already doing the work on the ground, often with little guidance and immense courage. These entrepreneur stories do not just celebrate business success – they provide a blueprint for inclusive, localized, and sustainable entrepreneurship in regions long marginalized in mainstream narratives.

With a marketing approach centred on Instagram and supported by Facebook and Google advertisements, TribeLand Coffee continues to build a loyal customer base and strong brand presence.

IMPULSE MODEL ENGAGEMENTS

Programme activities are annually planned and implemented under the Impulse Model’s 6Ps, guided by donor-supported budgets, with select initiatives integrated to strengthen institutional capacity, stakeholder collaboration, and knowledge sharing.

PROGRAMMES ORGANISED

Programmes create structured spaces for coordination and action, enabling stakeholders to align around practical, locally relevant solutions.

PROGRAMMES ATTENDED

Programmes attended create structured opportunities for learning and engagement, enabling participants to translate shared knowledge into improved practice.

RESOURCE ASSISTANCE

Resource assistance strengthens capacity through knowledge sharing beyond INGON’s direct programmes.

SUCCESS STORIES

Saw Bwe Dae, Taungoo Region

When Saw Bwe Dae and his family fled violence in Karenni, they found refuge in Taungoo, but resources were scarce. INGON's dry ration support provided essential food supplies, helping his family survive and begin rebuilding their lives.

Impact: 150 families in Taungoo received critical supplies, stabilizing food security and fostering resilience.

"The food supplies helped us survive. I am grateful to the donors and everyone who supported us."
-Saw Bwe Dae

Agroforestry in B. Kaljang

Through sustainable farming initiatives, displaced families in Manipur turned degraded land into thriving agricultural plots. Beneficiaries like Haothangjing earned approximately $2176 from her harvest, enabling her to send her children to school and secure a stable future.

Impact:

Economic independence for families.

Environmental rehabilitation and biodiversity promotion.

"This project transformed our lives. I can now provide for my family and focus on giving my children a brighter future."

-Haothangjing

Addressing Food Insecurity in Mandalay

Mandalay became a hub for displaced families fleeing violence in northern Myanmar. Temporary shelters such as churches and monasteries housed many individuals who faced ongoing food insecurity.

Support and Impact:

Impulse NGO Network, with province partner Mandalay YMCA, provided critical food supplies, including rice, lentils, and cooking oil, to 150 families over three months. The effort focused on reaching hidden Internally Displaced Persons (IDPs) populations who were living outside organized camps.

Outcome:

The food assistance helped stabilize the lives of displaced families, allowing them to meet essential needs with dignity.

"We came to Mandalay with almost nothing. The food support we received allowed us to survive and gave us hope. My gratitude goes to everyone who made this possible."

-Aye Aye Khine, a mother of two

Emergency Relief in Tamu, Sagaing Region

Tamu, located near the India-Myanmar border, faced a severe humanitarian crisis as displaced populations arrived seeking refuge. Restricted access and inflated food prices exacerbated the hardships faced by these communities.

Support and Impact:

Working with local YMCA members, Impulse NGO Network distributed essential food supplies such as rice, beans, and cooking oil to 150 families. Local procurement ensured timely delivery despite logistical challenges.

Outcome:

The initiative supported 150 families, reducing food insecurity and providing critical stability to displaced families and their host communities.

"We were at our most vulnerable, but the support from YMCA and Impulse NGO Network saved lives. We will always remember their help during this crisis."

-Zokhoman, farmer and church leader

Providing Stability in Taungoo, Bago Region

Taungoo, a significant town in central Myanmar, became a refuge for displaced populations fleeing violence in the Karenni mountains. The influx of displaced individuals put immense pressure on local resources, leading to food insecurity among both locals and newcomers.

Support and Impact:

Through the Dry Ration Support Project, INGON and Taungoo YMCA provided 150 families with critical supplies, including rice, lentils, cooking oil, baby products, and utensils. This support alleviated immediate food insecurity and strengthened community resilience.

Outcome:

Families affected by the crisis were able to stabilize their living conditions, focusing on rebuilding their lives. The collaboration demonstrated the effectiveness of INGON's interventions in fostering recovery and resilience.

"We lost our home and nearly everything we had. The food supplies we received helped us survive. I am grateful to Impulse NGO Network, YMCA, and the donors who helped us when we needed it most."

-Saw Bwe Dae, a farmer displaced from Karenni

Impulse NGO Network | India

Hasina Kharbhih, founder of Impulse NGO Network, is leading a multi-sector approach to fight human trafficking through a prevention strategy to end unsafe migration. Impulse NGO Network has a 35-year track record providing humanitarian assistance to displaced persons in Myanmar.

Now, with the collaboration of the Impulse Social Enterprises, a hybrid social impact business in Shillong Meghalaya, India and working in South East Asia, the organizations are working together to address climate refugees, unsafe migration, and human trafficking – all with a focus on livelihood for migrants. To date, Impulse NGO Network has assisted about 73,000 people.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

For the financial year 2022-2023 (ending March 31, 2023), Impulse NGO Network maintained strong and prudent financial oversight across its income sources and program-related expenditures. The financial statements detail how resources were mobilized and strategically directed toward the organization’s core work under the Impulse Model Pillars. While each financial year reflects variations across the 6Ps verticals, the major program activities during this period focused on Impulse Model Prevention, Protection, Prosecution, and the Impulse Case Management Centre. The accounts for 2022-2023 were reviewed by an independent auditor, Shyam Chetteri and Associates, Shillong, Meghalaya, India (UDIN: 2330246BGVCGE7311). Their examination adhered to all relevant auditing standards to ensure clarity, accountability, and full regulatory compliance. The audited report has been issued in accordance with applicable Indian laws.
